Building a just and sustainable Boston. Together.

The Designing Just Futures Summit equips participants to enact meaningful transformations in the built environment by designing with - not for - those most impacted by design decisions.

By bringing together diverse perspectives from architects, designers, community advocates, policymakers, and activists, the summit will explore spatial justice frameworks, share skills, and foster relationships that embody the BSA's mission to champion innovation in the built environment and drive systemic change through deep partnerships.

As a summit sponsor, you demonstrate your commitment to the BSA's vision of advancing spatial justice through the tools of architecture and design.
